First Aid Procedures (Worksafe BC Compliant)

(A) Equipment, Supplies, Facilities, Attendants

- First aid supplies (bandaids, gauze, gloves, ice packs, etc) are located in the first aid cupboard next to the field, and also a personal first aid kit is located in the main office. Additional ice packs located in the freezer in the upstairs boardroom. Supplies maintained/replenished monthly.
- Automated External Defibrillator (AED) is regularly tested/maintained, located by TD office upstairs.
- Workers/volunteers with first aid training: G. Ferrari and M. Raftery

(B) Location of, how to call for First Aid

- Phones are available at the member services desk, main office, and upstairs TD office to call for first aid. Call TD/volunteer with first aid for minor issues, 911 for emergencies.

(C) How First Aid Attendant is to respond to call for First Aid

- Attendants should assess over the phone if not on site, followed by coming to facilities to administer first aid. In an emergency, the attendant should call or direct staff to call 911 and stay with the injured party.

(D) How will injured workers be assessed and moved

- First Aid Attendants will use their knowledge to determine whether an injured party should be moved or wait for medical professionals (ambulance) to arrive.

(E) Authority of First Aid Attendant + Responsibility of Employer

- First Aid Attendant has authority to assess injuries and decide if minor/emergency. The employer (Technical Director) has the responsibility to report injuries to the board.

(F) Transportation of injured worker

- If injury is minor but requires transportation, a First Aid attendant can arrange. In an emergency, the Attendant will call or direct staff to call 911 to request an ambulance.

(G) Location of the method of emergency transportation

- Quesnel Ambulance is located at 574 Carson Ave, approximately 5 minutes from QYSA Facilities. Call 911 if required.

(H) Prearranged routes from workplace to medical treatment

- QYSA is located at 980 Anderson Drive. The hospital is located at 543 Front Street, approximately a 7 minute drive from QYSA. Injured parties can be taken out through the main lobby or side emergency doors that open directly to the parking lot.
